Fr. John Paul's Spiritual Brew

My Dear Community:

I will be stepping away for my yearly “real vacation retreat/renewal time”. I will be off email, phone, and all those other connections. Fr. Emmanuel, Manny Guzman, and our amazing Pastoral Staff will be able to assist you in anything that comes up in my absence.

I take this “real time” every year so that I may continue to stay grounded in all those things required to be healthy, grounded, and peaceful.

Ministry demands much, gives much, and requires quality and clear-mindedness, if it is to be effective, and centered in charity. So, I go away “so that I can continue to love you, and you love me.” This is not my own quote, but one borrowed from a friend that I deeply believe.

The readings while I am away deal with unpacking our commitments:

On 9/23 we are invited to adjust our place in line. Are we seeking our own survival, or open to the call to be of good and proper use to others? Jesus reminds us that if we want to be first in God's eyes, that we must adopt the posture of a servant, and be ready to get out of the line of entitlement... to bend and wash the feet of those in need. May we have the courage to “change our place in line.”

On 9/30 we will hear Jesus correct his followers against the dangers of tribalism. He says, “whoever is not against us, is with us”. Jesus is inviting us to not get caught in petty paranoias that are not grounded in reality. When we do, opportunities for greater collaboration get missed, and we waste energy that could be put towards building God's kingdom. Jesus says, if some ‘paranoia’ is causing us to sin.... “cut it out” and get rid of it!

On 10/7, Jesus in response to the question of divorce reminds his hearers of the Old Testament's call to spouses to be “one flesh.” Marriage is a vocation, “a calling from God” to manifest God's presence “outwardly.” The “two” become “one”.... Not destroying one another, but allowing what is best in the other to rise, and to be nurtured in Christ. It is this “Christ-centered nurturing” that allows God's love to flow between the “two”, and creates a relationship which promotes unity, respect, forgiveness, compassion, encouragement, change, healing, and new life! In this way, the couple becomes a sign of Christ's true presence to one another, and to the whole world. This is why the church wants couples to prepare for marriage.... To think deeply and to reflect broadly on this great responsibility, and Godly calling. The good news is that Christ dwells deep within the relationship... always supporting and encouraging those called to oneness and peace.

Lastly, on 10/14... We hear one of my favorite Gospel stories, ‘The rich young man.’ “Good teacher what must I do to gain everlasting life? Jesus is so patient, and walks with this young person through what they already know.... “know and live the Commandments”. When the young person wants more, “Jesus, looks at him with love” and, encourages him to go deeper into his quest for Godly perfection... Jesus says leave everything that distracts you from God, from attaining what you're truly seeking. And, even after the young person is overwhelmed at the mere thought of this, along with all those hearing this as well.... Jesus reminds them and us... “that nothing is impossible for God.”

In these days of mixed joys and pains.... Let us remember, and remind one another “that nothing is impossible for God.” We may tire, and burnout.... but, God doesn't! May we remember “that the Spirit of the Lord is upon us, and that we have been anointed.” This means that we are not alone. May we pray for the courage to remain open, and receptive to the Spirit! Amen!
