Fr. John Paul's Spiritual Brew

Wisdom always invites one to take a higher road, and to travel a more intentional path. This is not always easy.... but produces for the seeker a beauty and freedom... that cannot be matched.

Today's first reading and Gospel invite its hearers, and readers.... to shed the mire of only experiencing life through a physical and intellectual lens.... to continuing the journey "equipped" physically and intellectually.... to and through a spiritual landscape, as well. Jesus's final words to his disciples were "Go!" Go and baptize, heal, preach, lift up, build bridges, forgive, reconcile, see, love, and bring peace! Come Holy Spirit... and renew the face of the earth!

Jesus says, "Your ancestors ate manna in the desert, and died.... But, the bread I will give you will cause you, to live, and not die.... For the bread I give is my flesh for the life of the world"

This is a beautiful and an intense statement. It boggles the mind, and goes beyond any intelligible quantifiable control.

For those of us who embrace the physical/ intellectual, but also see and accept the "spiritual" as a part of having a whole picture..... we simply breathe, and say "Come Holy Spirit... help me to connect the dots appropriately... and with the understanding that I need to live my life fully". For wisdom after all.... is the correct appropriation of the knowledge that we have received, experienced, tested, and lived.... We can now see how it is both helpful and true.

As we prepare to begin a new school year at the University of Arizona... May we be open to "God's Spirit which is upon us". Directing our minds, hearts, and souls towards greater truth and love!

Welcome to your Newman Catholic Community at the U of A! We are glad that you are here, and look forward to meeting you, or welcoming you back!

The Call to Volunteer

"You are the salt of the earth."

"You are the light of the word."

We are called in two ways: to be the salt of the earth—to provide the flavor of life to others—and to be the light of the world to be like Christ, to radiate God's love to others.

And as Catholics, we accept the gifts of grace and faith bestowed on us, but we also know that our faith must be demonstrated through our works (James 2:18).

And through our actions, we can salt, and can illuminate through work our hands, our presence, and our voices.

In fact, our actions are well-invested in our own communities just as much as outside of our communities.

At Newman, we looking for your help, your time, and gifts. We need observant people, enthusiastic people, thoughtful people to be in our ministries of lecturing, greeting, EMin, and sacristaning.

Please contact Nathan Payne or Sr. Lynn to express your call to help the community.

We acknowledge the People of the Land who have dwelt here since time immemorial and continue to live in this place today: Tohono O'odham, Sobaipuri O'odham, Pascua Yaqui and other Native Americans. We give thanks for the original stewards of this land, our ancestors, our elders and all Indigenous People.

Final Vows
A film by Victoria Westover

Sunday
Sept. 8th, 2024
2-4 pm
at Fox Theatre

Final Vows

Final Vows chronicles the life of a cloistered order of nuns at Santa Rita Abbey, a Cistercian monastery in the high desert of Arizona. The nuns, who take a vow that binds them to the community they entered for life, candidly share their joys and struggles. Made from small moments of daily life, the film serves as a mediation on aging and caring for others and asks viewers to consider if this lifestyle offers any wisdom for our society.

REFLECTION ON OUR THEME

As we approach a new year on campus, we also begin our new challenge:

*Love your enemy,
do good,
and expect nothing in return*

Luke 6:35

This theme is difficult, though far from impossible.

How do you love your enemy?
