Fr. John Paul's Spiritual Brew

Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will never pass away”
We see time passing..., and sometimes we are aware of its speed... but, most of the time we are not. When life is busy... so many things just fly pass us... Many of these things are important... and others are not... For the things that are valuable, when they pass us by... we can feel a deep hunger that lingers... despite our busy lives. It's a hunger that beckons us... and calls us to pay attention... It's like a splash of cold water on our face... with an accompanying voice... Which says stop... breathe... and, listen... When we take the time to stop... God's grace fills us with care... and finds a home within us... Which... heals and renews us.

In today's Gospel Jesus invites us to allow his Word to find a place within our being - to serve as an anchor to ground us - in a world that is 'passing away' and changing daily. In what do we place our strength, and find foundation? In shifting sands..., or in the Spirit of the Lord... who has anointed us?

May these last days of the liturgical year offer us a moment to pause among all of our 'maybes' 'shoulds' and 'oughts' ... into a place where our minds, hearts, and souls - feel connected to the Living Word of the God... For here there is a power that can do more "than we can think or imagine."

Amen. Alleluia
